Oswald's Mother To Testify Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The other woman in Lee Harvey Oswald's life, his mother, will try on Monday to convince a presidential tribunal that only "trumped-up charges" make out her son to be an assassin.

Oswald's young widow, Soviet-born Marina Oswald, wearily completed Thursday night a four-day interrogation on the facts which convinced her that the malcontent Marxist fired the fatal shots at President John F. Kennedy in Dallas last Nov. 22.

But the mother, Marguerite Oswald, 56, fiercely insisted that "no one saw Lee fire the gun," demanded and won the right to talk, bring a lawyer and submit evidence to the seven-man investigating commission.

Chief Justice Earl Warren said she will be the second witness in the closed assassination hearings.

He made the announcement after telling newsmen that Marina, 22—whom he called "a very brave little woman"—had identified the rifle found in the sniper's hideaway in the Dallas building where Oswald worked, as the one her husband had "kept at their home prior to the assassination." He bought it by mail in March.

Disclosed that Oswald used the name "A. Hidell" in New Orleans last summer. That was the name under which the Italian-made carbine was purchased from a Chicago mail-order house.

Told the commission that "while she did not like to believe her husband killed President Kennedy, the facts presented to her since the assassination would not permit her to reach any other conclusion."

Filled in and elaborated on much information she previously had given in interviews—information which helped lead the FBI to its conclusion that the sharpshooter Oswald, discharged from the Marines as undesirable, was the sole and unaided perpetrator of the tragedy.

Questioned on whether the slender widow might have had prior knowledge of Oswald's plans, Warren said the marathon testimony, taken through an interpreter, indicated that "she had no knowledge of the assassination before it happened—none whatsoever."

Mrs. Oswald Labels Mate As 'Abnormal'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Marina Oswald said today her husband became abnormal returning from Russia in 1962, and practiced shooting in the months preceding the assassination of President Kennedy on Nov. 22.

In an interview, the widow of Lee Harvey Oswald said she realized his abnormality after an attempt on the life of former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker in Dallas on April 10.

Questioned by reporters as to why she did not immediately tell police about the sniper attack on Walker—which she said Oswald described to her — the slim Russian-born widow said: "Because I am his wife."

Speaking in halting English, Mrs. Oswald said she did not know why her husband fired the rifle shots in Dallas that killed Kennedy and wounded Texas Gov. John Connally.

She made it plain she believed Oswald did do the shooting.

Before the assassination, she said, Oswald had never spoken against Kennedy to her. As to whether he might have been aiming at Connally, she said, "I don't know."

The 22-year-old mother of two said she hopes to become an American citizen, improve her knowledge of English and history, educate her children—but not remarry.

When asked whether she had been treated fairly by the presidential investigating commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, she failed to understand the word "fairly."

Her lawyer, John M. Thorne, explained that the question meant whether she felt the interrogators treated her well, whether she liked Warren.

Her face lit up in a smile, and she said: "Oh, yes — just like my grandfather."

Mrs. Oswald said her husband, a 24-year-old ex-Marine sharpshooter, went to Mexico City on Sept. 26 because he wanted to get a visa to live in Cuba.

He also had planned, she indicated, to go to Russia after Cuba. Oswald had met her in Russia, where he went in October 1959, and tried unsuccessfully to become a Soviet citizen.

She said she knew, after he brought her to this country, that Oswald practiced rifle-shooting—not very often, but "sometimes."

"Was your husband an angry, a violent man?" a reporter asked.

"He was a normal man," she replied.

"Did you feel that it was normal to shoot at Gen. Walker?"

"That was not normal ... to shoot at anybody."

New Violence Threatened On Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A chain reaction of violence threatened Cyprus today after Greek Cypriots burned a Turkish village, claiming the Turks had ambushed Greeks from a neighboring town.

Seven Turkish Cypriots and four Greek Cypriots were killed Thursday in the heaviest fighting since the cold feud between the two factions erupted again during the Christmas holiday.

The six-hour battle left the village of Ayios Sozomenos, 10 miles south of Nicosia, in flames. Its ramshackle huts were ablaze when British forces won a cease-fire.

The wails of Turkish women and children filled the air after the rattle of machine-gun fire died down.

British armored cars arrived shortly after noon, but it was dusk before British officers could persuade the two sides to lay down their guns.

Greek Cypriot police and civilian irregulars overran the village of some 30 homes after Greeks charged Turkish youths ambushed a police vehicle carrying a policeman and six Greek civilians on a daily journey to a water pump serving the Greek town of Athenou. The Greeks said the policeman and one civilian were killed and three others injured.

Driving Teacher Sets Very Unusual Example

NEW YORK (AP) — Kathryn Macinick, 35, of Bayside, Queens, faces trial on charges of reckless driving, driving without a license, speeding, driving with improper lights, failing to comply with a policeman's signal and changing lanes.

She's paid $480 in fines for other traffic violations.

And there are 14 other traffic charges still pending. Mrs. Macinick said Thursday in court she once was an instructor for a driving school.

NEW CUBA CRISIS STUDIED

Mistrial Ruled In Racial Slaying Case

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A mistrial was declared today in the trial of Byron De La Beckwith, a crusading segregationist charged with murdering a Negro civil rights leader.

Circuit Court Judge Leon Hendrick declared the mistrial after the all-white jury, called for individual polling at the end of about 12 hours deliberation, declared themselves hopelessly deadlocked.

With seven hours already logged in the small jury room, the all-white panel was ordered Thursday night by Circuit Judge Leon F. Hendrick to breakfast as early as possible and start again.

For many the case symbolized the deep racial passions that have gripped much of Mississippi. A quick acquittal had been freely predicted.

As the hours dragged by Thursday, Beckwith, 43, a Greenwood, Miss., fertilizer salesman, wore the air of a man sorely puzzled.

Jurors had four choices in the case: Acquittal, guilty as charged, guilty as charged with life sentence as punishment, and guilty as charged but with no agreement as to punishment.

The guilty as charged verdict carries an automatic death penalty. Failure to agree on punishment makes a life sentence mandatory. Prisoners serving life become eligible for parole in 10 years.

The jury was locked up for the night in a dormitory one floor above Beckwith's jail cell in the Hinds County courthouse. Two bailiffs spent the night with the jury.

Evers, 37, was state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People when he was cut down by a bullet in his back in a midnight ambush.

Rest Home Operator To Face Charges

NORWALK, Ohio (AP) — Charges of failing to eliminate fire hazards as ordered by a state fire inspector have been filed against Eugene H. Woods, operator of the Norwalk Christian Nursing Home.

Woods is a former owner of the Golden Age Nursing Home at Fitchville where 63 patients died in a fire Nov. 23.

Norwalk Home was inspected in December by State Fire Inspector Jack Hodgkins and Norwalk Fire Chief William Lohman. The two found what they called unsafe electrical wiring and other fire hazards. On Jan. 2 Woods was given 30 days to make about 30 changes.

A warrant signed by Hodgkins was served on Woods Thursday while he was in Common Pleas Court on a charge of failing to obtain a food service license. Woods pleaded innocent to the fire inspector's charges and was released under $1,000 personal bond pending a hearing.

In the food service case Woods was fined $220 by Judge Robert J. Vetter.

Clarence Ellett, sanitarian of the County Health Department, said in the past 11 years Woods has been delinquent 10 times under the food service license law. Woods was fined once before, Ellett said.

2 Men Trapped 15 Days in Auto

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — One of two frostbitten encyclopedia salesmen who spent 15 days trapped in a car in the snow-covered Sierra, summed it up this way:

"Man, this was the experience I'll never forget!"

Tom Penland, a prospector who fed them after they stumbled 10 miles through hip-deep snow, said:

"They were kinda bedraggled looking, so I invited them in and gave them something to eat. They complained about sore feet and told me they had walked part of the way in the snow in their stocking feet."

Paul Froelich, 44, Pleasant Hill, Calif., and James Ginrich, 22, Sudbury, Ontario, survived with nothing worse than the frost bite and malnutrition.

They staggered to Penland's cabin door Tuesday night. They were rescued Thursday by a sheriff's constable after Mrs. Froelich filed a missing persons report.

Neither man was hospitalized.

Coast Guard Gets 'Thanks'

NEW YORK (AP) — No one in the Coast Guard's Rescue Coordination Center could recall anything more than an occasional "thank you" letter for its efforts.

So it was with some surprise that 20 officers and enlisted men found themselves Thursday night at the apartment of Colin Leslie Fox. He threw a party for them.

"There's little enough gratitude expressed these days for favors done," Fox said.

Fox sailed from New York last Dec. 5 for Bermuda in his 32-foot boat. A friend reported him missing on Dec. 26.

Planes and ships searched a 35-mile area. On Jan. 10 Fox landed in the Bahamas, blown far off course.

The alert for Fox was one of the Coast Guard's 37,330 calls for assistance last year.

Alabama Racial Tension Mounts

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP) — Tension grew in Alabama's racial difficulties today in the face of expected protest demonstrations by Negro students at Tuskegee Institute.

There was less apprehension at nearby Tusculga but a white boycott of newly desegregated Shorter High School gained momentum. Six Negro pupils remained in the school without disorder.

An estimated 300 students marched quietly around the Tuskegee Institute campus Thursday in what appeared to be a trial run for protests to come.

The dean of students, Dr. S. Bertrand Phillips, said the students would remain on campus through today, but after that, "I can't be sure."

City officials rejected an application for a parade permit. The Tusculga High School, still segregated despite a federal court order to admit six Negroes two days ago, remained closed while city officials rushed repairs on a fire-damaged filter plant at the municipal waterworks. Mayor James Rea said he hoped the Tusculga High School and two other schools closed because of the water shortage could be reopened Monday.

But even when classroom work is resumed at the school, the six Negro pupils transferred there by a federal judge will remain barred, the mayor said, under a municipal fire prevention ordinance.

Rea invoked the new safety and fire inspection law Wednesday. He said no more pupils could be enrolled without exceeding the maximum attendance limit fixed under the new ordinance.

Federal attorneys asked U.S. District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. for an injunction prohibiting further use of the fire inspection law to keep the Negro pupils out. A hearing was scheduled at nearby Opelika today, but Johnson without explanation postponed it until next Thursday.

Final Tax Cut OK Awaited

SENATE APPROVAL EXPECTED TODAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate appeared ready today to give its final approval, by an overwhelming margin, to the $11.6 billion tax cut bill.

Majority leader Mike Mansfield, calling his colleagues in two hours early for the sixth straight day, said he was confident the passage vote would come this afternoon.

Practically all individuals and corporations would get a break under the bill. Most individuals would get reductions of about 19 per cent.

One major hurdle remained for Johnson administration forces who have been in control throughout the long debate.

It was an amendment of Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., to clamp on a $100 billion government spending ceiling so that the individual and corporate tax cuts in the bill would be rescinded any time federal outlays exceeded that figure.

The spending total for the current year ending June 30 is estimated at $98.4 billion. President Johnson has submitted a $97.9 billion budget for the year starting July 1.

Democratic leaders expected to beat down the McClellan proposal with arguments that it would be inflexible and unworkable.

A second major amendment, to be voted on ahead of the spending limitation, would knock out the present stock option plan for corporation executives. It is offered by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn.

Some additional minor amendments may be offered but Mansfield obtained agreement to limit the time on any further proposed changes in the bill.

Shore Union May Boycott Wheat Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — The export of about $70-million worth of U.S. wheat to the Soviet Union faces the threat of being bogged down on American docks by a longshoremen's boycott.

President Thomas W. Gleason of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association made the threat at a frequently stormy Maritime Administration hearing.

Charging that foreign-flag vessels that had been "dealing with the enemy" were being given precedence over U.S. ships in the wheat deal, Gleason said: "Let the Russians go to hell. Let them starve. Tell them to take it the way we send it, or don't send it at all."

Gleason said Thursday he would recommend to the union's Executive Council that the 55,000 longshoremen refuse to load any of the wheat being exported by Continental Grain Co. unless more U.S. ships are used.

Acting Maritime Administrator Robert E. Giles told Gleason: "What you are saying is that you and your Executive Council should make foreign policy instead of the President."

The hearing was held to consider Continental's application for a waiver permitting shipment of less than 50 per cent of the nearly 1 million tons of wheat in U.S. vessels.

Continental contended not enough U.S. ships are available for February and March shipments under federal regulations requiring that at least 50 per cent move in American ships if available.

Merchant Gets Rich By Quitting Cigarettes

KYOTO, Japan (AP) — Kumazo Shimoyama, 59, a merchant quit smoking after reading the recent U.S. government report on cigarettes and lung cancer.

With a third of his monthly cigarette allowance — 1,000 yen ($2.80)—he bought 10 government lottery tickets.

One of his tickets won the first prize of 3 million yen ($3,400) Thursday.

WEeping GIRL LED FROM CLOSED SCHOOL — An unidentified parent leads his weeping daughter from the Macon County High School in Tusculga, Ala., after city officials ordered all schools in the town closed because of a "severe water shortage." The town's filtration plant was damaged by a mysterious fire. The day before Mayor James Rea prevented integration of the high school.

Zero Reading To Follow Back-to-Back Blizzards

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Temperatures as low as zero were expected today in large areas of the nation's Southwest, where unusual back-to-back blizzards have paralyzed entire communities and marooned thousands of travelers for nearly a week.

The new cold air mass, with snow-whipping winds, complicated attempts to clear highways of as much as 30 inches of snow and to get supplies to isolated towns. Temperatures should rise sharply during the day, however, the Weather Bureau said.

Three counties in New Mexico were declared emergency areas — San Miguel, Union and Quay counties — and about 100 National Guardsmen worked with M42 tanks to take ranch families to town.

Unless the new storm keeps temperatures below 20 degrees the economic damage was expected to be light.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said the over-all effect of moisture in long-parched areas greatly offset any immediate damages.

The biggest losses so far come from cattle being slaughtered when they wandered onto railroad tracks. Other livestock were being taken feed in six-wheel drive trucks and were expected to survive the weather unless the freeze intensified.

At least 10 persons were known dead, five in Texas and five in New Mexico. Helicopters from Cannon Air Force Base scoured the countryside for families who needed help and other possible victims.

Johnson, Aides Mum on U.S. Intentions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson met with his top military and diplomatic advisers for nearly two hours today on the Cuban crisis, and scheduled another session for the afternoon. There were signs the government might be contemplating specific actions.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the morning conference was devoted to "an examination of the facts as they are now in the possession of the United States government."

Salinger added, without elaboration, that Johnson and his key aides "obviously were doing more" than simply looking at the facts.

The President scheduled a second session for 4:30 p.m. EST.

It was believed that, out of this meeting, might come decisions on specific steps to be taken by the United States in response to the Cuban government's cutoff of fresh water to the Guantanamo U.S. Naval Base.

Johnson and his advisers, it was understood, were exploring the possibility that the Cuban government might have arranged the crisis by deliberately sending four of its fishing vessels inside American territorial waters off the Florida coast.

Johnson reported last week that the captains of the vessels, which were seized by American authorities, radioed Havana that they were inside American waters just before they were intercepted.

At the Capitol, meanwhile, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, expressed full confidence Johnson will see to it that the United States is not "parched out" of the Caribbean base.

It is obvious "we have no intention of being pressured out" of Guantanamo, Mansfield told the Senate.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, acting Republican leader, commended Mansfield's statement.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara headed the group of advisers who met with Johnson on U.S. counteraction.

Cuba cut off the base water supply Thursday and first advised the United States it would remain off until 36 Cuban fishermen seized off the Florida coast last Sunday are released. The men are charged with illegal fishing in U.S. waters.

Johnson, in a speech in New York Thursday night before flying back to the capital, said the Castro government's cutting the flow of fresh water to the U.S. Guantanamo Naval Base had been executed sooner or later and contingency plans are already in force to keep the big base supplied "indefinitely."

"Our troops in Cuba and their families will have the water they need," he declared.

Originally Havana announced it was shutting off all water to the big base until the United States released all of the 36 Cuban fishermen arrested for sailing into U. S. territorial waters.

But at a news conference Thursday night, Prime Minister Fidel Castro declared Cuba had no desire "to harm civilians, including women and children" and would therefore supply the base with water for their needs for one hour a day, from 8 to 9 a.m.

But he stressed the cut-off would remain in effect for the rest of the time and that "we are ready to fight before accepting humiliation and blackmail."

Seemingly a greater threat than a water shortage was the danger the dispute would grow and involve prestige and cold war rivalry of the United States and the Soviet Union.

Civil Righter To Return To Same Job after Jail

CINCINNATI (AP) — Carole Merritt, 23, is not going to let a one-year jail sentence in Mississippi keep her from doing civil rights work.

"I'm going to go right back to work when I get out," said the young Cincinnati girl, a graduate of Vassar College.

Miss Merritt, a Negro, was jailed Monday in Canton, Miss., when convicted by Canton Mayor L. S. Matthews of charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and of disturbing the peace.

She said her arrest resulted in pressure from Mississippi authorities against civil rights groups. "We were being effective with a selective buying campaign," she said. "It was 90 per cent effective against certain (Canton) merchants and they didn't like it. Madison County (Miss.) is 70 per cent Negro and pressure was building up."

She made the statements Thursday in a telephone interview with reporter Gerald White of the Cincinnati Enquirer. White said his call to her went right through, and they talked for 10 minutes.

"They just handed the phone through the bars in my cell," Miss Merritt said. "Nobody is watching or monitoring the calls apparently."

Miss Merritt said she hopes to raise bond for release, pending an appeal. She said she is not guilty of the charges.

"I guess the jail comes up to the standards here," she said. "The food is not very appetizing but there are three meals a day."

"My cell is on the first floor of the jail and is right next to a large dayroom for the men. They keep my cell locked up all the time. I'm the only woman on the jail's first floor. There are two other women on the second floor."

"I'm probably the only Vassar graduate ever locked up in Mississippi," concluded the civil rights worker, also a graduate of Cincinnati Walnut Hills High School.

Stocks Near New Highs

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market flirted with new historic highs early this afternoon as selected blue chips again moved the averages higher. Trading was moderate.

The advance was an irregular one.

Outstanding among the blue chips was Du Pont, up about 10 points.

No particular strong group leadership was displayed although the trend was generally higher among chemicals, mail order-retails, airlines, rails and office equipments.

Several of the recently declining "glamour" stocks made moderate recoveries. Cigarette stocks declined as a sharp drop in cigarette tax receipts was reported among state governments.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.1 at 293.0 with industrials up 2.4, rails up .3 and utilities up .1. If the gain were to be held by the close, the recent all-time high would be bettered.

Civil Righter To Return To Same Job after Jail

CINCINNATI (AP) — Carole Merritt, 23, is not going to let a one-year jail sentence in Mississippi keep her from doing civil rights work.

"I'm going to go right back to work when I get out," said the young Cincinnati girl, a graduate of Vassar College.

Miss Merritt, a Negro, was jailed Monday in Canton, Miss., when convicted by Canton Mayor L. S. Matthews of charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and of disturbing the peace.

She said her arrest resulted in pressure from Mississippi authorities against civil rights groups.

"We were being effective with a selective buying campaign," she said. "It was 90 per cent effective against certain (Canton) merchants and they didn't like it. Madison County (Miss.) is 70 per cent Negro and pressure was building up."

She made the statements Thursday in a telephone interview with reporter Gerald White of the Cincinnati Enquirer. White said his call to her went right through, and they talked for 10 minutes.

"They just handed the phone through the bars in my cell," Miss Merritt said. "Nobody is watching or monitoring the calls apparently."

Miss Merritt said she hopes to raise bond for release, pending an appeal. She said she is not guilty of the charges.

"I guess the jail comes up to the standards here," she said. "The food is not very appetizing but there are three meals a day."

"My cell is on the first floor of the jail and is right next to a large dayroom for the men. They keep my cell locked up all the time. I'm the only woman on the jail's first floor. There are two other women on the second floor."

"I'm probably the only Vassar graduate ever locked up in Mississippi," concluded the civil rights worker, also a graduate of Cincinnati Walnut Hills High School.

State Seeks Force Village To Sell Parks

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Highway Department is going to court to make New Richmond give up two village parks for highway improvement.

The village council has refused the department's $25,500 offer as inadequate for City Park and Softball Park. Both areas, each the size of a large city square, were designated as "parks in perpetuity" when Thomas Ashburn laid out the village of 3,000 in the early 1800's.

The department today filed suit in Clermont County Common Pleas Court repeating its offer for $17,500 for City Park. A condemnation suit offering $8,000 for the other park will be filed later.

New Richmond, an often-flooded river town, prides itself on its broad streets and the parks and is planning to repaint all its houses this summer.

The highway department is planning to replace U.S. 52, in Clermont County with a four-lane, limited access road running farther from the Ohio River. The parks are on higher ground north of the town.

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — The telephone company and post office agree with Barclay Jameson's contention that he lives at 1699 Pinyon St.

There, on the north side of his house on Pinyon street, are the numerals 1699. But, on 17th street where the city of Grand Junction says Jameson lives are the numbers 1951.

"There's no such address as 1699 Pinyon," insists City Planner Don Warner.

Jameson, relative newcomer, said he knows for sure only which house is his. It's the two-story green one on the corner.

U.S. Leaders Study Newest Cuban Move

The officials noted the turning off of the water could have been coordinated with the Soviet Union's warning that the seizure Sunday of the fishermen and their boats off Florida could lead to disastrous consequences.

Thus there was speculation Castro might be setting the stage for a new demand the United States abandon its base on his island.

Johnson, who interpolated his statement on Guantanamo into his New York speech after receiving notes on the rostrum from his aides, said the state Department had clearly established the fishing vessels were inside U.S. territorial waters.

"The captains of these boats reported this fact by radio to Havana just before the arrest came," he added.

The President said that since Castro allied himself with the Soviet Union the United States has known "that he would some day cut off the water to Guantanamo base. We have made such plans for such an eventuality."

Johnson, who spoke before Castro's pledge to supply an hour's flow of water a day, said there was enough water at the base to last for 12 days and "in addition to which water can be brought in and will be brought in indefinitely by ship from Port Everglades, Fla."

The Pentagon said the water rations for the 10,500 persons on the base had been reduced to one-fourth of normal. The navy was already planning to haul in emergency supplies.

In the tense background were demands on Capitol Hill for strong countermeasures, including a naval blockade.

Campaigning in New Hampshire for the Republican presidential nomination, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona declared the United States should warn Castro to restore the water supply or "we will march out with a detachment of Marines and turn it on ourselves."

Hearing of this, Prime Minister Castro said of the United States "tries to lay hands on our water sources we will fight to the last man and let Barry Goldwater know it. He should be in the first line of invaders."

Castro blamed the U.S. government for Goldwater's statement, saying it "encouraged him with its aggressive policy."

At his news conference, Castro charged the United States with aggression and "taking a cold war action" when it seized the fishing boats.

He accused American ships and planes of "repeatedly violating Cuban territorial waters and air space" and declared he may ask the United Nations to intervene "before things get more serious."

While in New York Johnson discussed the situation by telephone with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk. He told his advisers to prepare a "thorough set of recommendations" for dealing with the problem.

When his helicopter touched down at the White House shortly before midnight, Johnson was met by McGeorge Bundy, special assistant on national security affairs, and Bromley Smith, executive secretary of the National Security Council, who briefed him on State Department discussions on the situation.

The timing of the Castro government's action suggested to U.S. officials that it might be the first move with others to follow. Officials noted that the base water supply, which has always originated outside the base itself was unmolested after the break in relations between the United States and Cuba three years ago. Nor was it interrupted at the time of the Cuban missile crisis in the fall of 1962.

Authorities also recalled that the Cuban leader spent most of last month in the Soviet Union and conferred with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Brace Yourself; Beatles Coming

EDITOR'S NOTE — Many parents of teen-age girls are mystified as to why their daughters have gone ga-ga over "The Beatles," four boys with way-out haircuts and an even-farther-out way of making music. Here's what it's all about—more or less—in the words of a foremost, Gay Stilley, 13, daughter of AP staff writer Francis Stilley.

By GAY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—It's hard to explain what makes the Beatles so wonderful because I don't completely understand why I think they are.

Anti-Beatles (there are a few) simply cannot understand why other people are crazy about the Beatles, who arrive here from London today.

"Good heavens!" they exclaim. "They're not even good looking." As if that should explain everything.

A friend of mine got so disgusted when people kept telling her the Beatles weren't good looking that she screamed, "I don't care if they're four dogs! Their music is fantastic and that's all I care about."

And their music is fantastic. To the average adult it would sound like nothing more than a conglomeration of noises, screams, howls and other unclassified sounds.

To the ecstatic teen-ager lying in front of her hi-fi, it's sheer heaven.

Its insistent beat (which is how the Beatles got their name) is great to dance all the latest dances to, including the new one called "The Beatle." Perhaps most important, the songs are about subjects teen-agers can identify with.

What teen-ager, feeling depressed, wouldn't be comforted by the glorious voices of The Beatles singing "Misery?"

The title of one record, "Boys," is enough to send millions of teen-age girls to the record stores. With a title like that, it has to be good!

Whether The Beatles are good looking or not, they're certainly different. They have wild senses of humor. When asked why he wore four rings on his fingers, Ringo replied, "Because I can't fit them all through my nose."

For heaven's sake, I don't know exactly why girls fall in love with The Beatles.

All I know is, when John growls during a song, "Okay, George—give it to 'em," a chill runs down the spine of every girl listening.

'Two-Chinas' Problem Eyed

No Crack Is Expected Soon in Bamboo Curtain

By ROY ESSOYAN

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Bamboo Curtain probably will remain tightly drawn around Red China for years to come, whatever the outcome of the French effort to establish relations with that Communist giant.

If President Charles de Gaulle's diplomatic efforts survive the many pitfalls in their path—and if Red China can surmount the formidable built-in obstacles that keep it out of the United Nations — the Bamboo Curtain might open a crack.

But it will not be flung wide open for a long time.

That is the thinking of Western and Chinese experts in Hong Kong and Taipei who have been studying Red China's behavior patterns for years.

The few Chinese Communists you can talk to in Hong Kong agree.

An adamant Chinese Communist representative in the Security Council, many non-Communist experts believe, could doom the United Nations or render it even more impotent than Soviet vetoes have left it in past East-West crises.

The Chinese Communists are expected to remain adamant in their attitude toward the West for some time to come.

"Mao Tze-tung can't get along with his Communist partner Khrushchev. How can he get along with the Western powers or the United Nations?" a Chinese official here asked.

Few here believe Red China will actually enter the United Nations in the foreseeable future unless the United States abandons Nationalist China, that possibility is considered remote.

Even if Red China wins a seat in the General Assembly by a two-thirds majority that would not automatically mean a Peking representative will come striding down the U.N. corridors.

Peking is not expected to accept a U.N. seat so long as a representative of Nationalist

China is seated there. To do so would be to abandon all claim to Formosa and to admit the sovereignty of this anti-Communist island 100 miles off the China coast.

Hong Kong students of Chinese communism consider this inconceivable.

"Red China's real problem is not to win a seat in the United Nations but to oust Nationalist China from its seat," a political expert here said.

'Two-Chinas' Problem Eyed

No Crack Is Expected Soon in Bamboo Curtain

By ROY ESSOYAN

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Bamboo Curtain probably will remain tightly drawn around Red China for years to come, whatever the outcome of the French effort to establish relations with that Communist giant.

If President Charles de Gaulle's diplomatic efforts survive the many pitfalls in their path—and if Red China can surmount the formidable built-in obstacles that keep it out of the United Nations—the Bamboo Curtain might open a crack.

But it will not be flung wide open for a long time.

That is the thinking of Western and Chinese experts in Hong Kong and Taipei who have been studying Red China's behavior patterns for years.

The few Chinese Communists you can talk to in Hong Kong agree.

An adamant Chinese Communist representative in the Security Council, many non-Communist experts believe, could doom the United Nations or render it even more impotent than Soviet vetoes have left it in past East-West crises.

The Chinese Communists are expected to remain adamant in their attitude toward the West for some time to come.

"Mao Tze-tung can't get along with his Communist partner Khrushchev. How can he get along with the Western powers or the United Nations?" a Chinese official here asked.

Few here believe Red China will actually enter the United Nations in the foreseeable future unless the United States abandons Nationalist China, that possibility is considered remote.

Even if Red China wins a seat in the General Assembly by a two-thirds majority that would not automatically mean a Peking representative will come striding down the U.N. corridors.

Peking is not expected to accept a U.N. seat so long as a representative of Nationalist

China is seated there. To do so would be to abandon all claim to Formosa and to admit the sovereignty of this anti-Communist island 100 miles off the China coast.

Hong Kong students of Chinese communism consider this inconceivable.

"Red China's real problem is not to win a seat in the United Nations but to oust Nationalist China from its seat," a political expert here said.

CHEVELLE! MALIBU SUPER SPORTS by CHEVROLET

Background, new Chevelle Malibu Super Sport Coupe; foreground, Chevelle Malibu Super Sport Convertible.

What's so super about the Chevelle Malibu Super Sports?

Let's start with the inside. You get individually adjustable front bucket seats, soft, color-keyed leather-grain vinyl. Special instrumentation—ammeter, oil pressure and water temperature gauges. Bright metal console panel with either sporty 4-speed* stick shift or Powerglide* floor-mounted straight-line shift.

Under the hood? Lots of choice. Two Sixes—standard 120-hp and optional 155-hp*. Three V8's from the standard 283-cu.-in. job up to (you're reading it right!) 327-cu.-in.* Try this one to flatten out hills!

Some mighty appealing options*, too. Electric tachometer, Positraction rear axle, sintered metallic brake linings and sports-styled simulated walnut steering wheel, to name a few.

Even the exterior says it's super—special moldings and emblems, special wheelcovers that define the highly maneuverable Chevelle 115-inch wheelbase. (Chevelle is smaller than the Jet-smooth luxury Chevrolet, bigger than the popular Chevy II, and fits beautifully in between them.)

Actually, about all that's not super about these Malibu SS Coupes and Convertibles is their price. And there's so much more to find out about them, the only right way to take it all in is to drive one. Your Chevrolet dealer can take care of that, too.

Chamber of Commerce Citizenship Action Corner

EDITOR'S NOTE — The Congressional Action Committee of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce believes strongly that if more people will take an active part in expressing their views to elected representatives in Congress, laws will result which will more nearly represent the desires of the people. It is the objective of the Chamber through this column to periodically remind voters of the part they can and should play in formulating the laws of the country. They have an obligation to determine what they want from Congress and to express their views so as to guide elected representatives. They will be pleased to hear from constituents. Correspondence to elected representative should be directed to: Sen. Frank J. Lausche or Sen. Stephen M. Young, Senate Office Building, Washington 25, D. C.; Con. William H. Harsha Jr. or Con. Robert A. Taft Jr., House Office Building, Washington 25, D. C.

This week the very important Tax Cut Bill is up for consideration in the Senate. H.R. 8363 — the Revenue Act of 1964 proposing tax cuts for individuals and corporations—emerged on the Senate floor for debate after a legislative journey that started last February in the House Ways & Means Committee.

As reported by the Senate Finance Committee, H.R. 8363 calls for reductions totaling $11.6 billion, $500 million more than the bill passed by the House. It was a widely held belief that should there be all out attempts to amend the bill in several sensitive, controversial areas, final enactment might be jeopardized.

As a counter to the later possibility, you, as a voting citizen of Circleville, can help Senators press for Senate passage by prompt dispatch of personal views to the legislators.

Key provisions of the proposed Senate bill which will affect individual taxpayers include:

1. Individual rates are reduced from the present range of 20 to 91 per cent to a new range of 16 to 77 per cent in 1964 and 14 to 70 per cent in 1965. The bill provides that the withholding rate, presently 18 per cent, will be reduced to 14 per cent, effective within a week after enactment.

2. The bill provides that each taxpayer may have a minimum standard deduction of $300 plus $100 for each additional exemption. This relieves from tax all single individuals with incomes up to $900, and all married couples with incomes up to $1,600.

3. The four per cent dividend received credit is reduced by the bill to two per cent for 1964, and repealed for subsequent years. The $50 dividend exclusion is increased to $100 for 1964 and subsequent years. In practical effect, this increase is from $100 to $200 for married couples.

4. The bill provides that in computing the retirement income credit the limit on retirement income is to be raised from $1,524 to $2,286 in certain cases where a joint return is filed.

After the Senate completes its action on the bill, the legislation must go to a conference with the House to adjust differences and get an agreed upon version for final submission to the two houses.

While delays are possible, it could be that in response to citizens' urging, H. R. 8363 will be sent to the White House in time for its provisions to become effective Mar. 1.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans have embraced instant debt along with all the other modern conveniences of family living.

Consumer credit has been growing at a record rate. Mortgage totals have swelled, with remortgaging to raise cash an increasing item.

All of this helps boost the statistics that show the general economy is bigger and better than ever.

Since savings and other family assets also have been rising—in total, if not in your particular case—financial experts pronounce the growing personal debt as still below the danger line.

It does raise some questions for bankers, manufacturers and merchants.

One is the direction of interest rates. The strong demand for consumer types of credit, added to rising borrowing at all levels of government, and to the possibility that business will be seeking more loans, too, should keep the money markets firm.

A little more oomph by any of the three might send demand for credit high enough to increase interest charges. This is even more likely since the Federal Reserve has indicated it would restrain credit if economic growth and a federal tax cut combined to threaten another round of inflation.

A second question is how much of today's general economic prosperity depends on the big expansion in credit demand. Could any reversal of today's trend to borrow more and more for the purchase of goods, services and homes spiral into a business slump?

Bankers doubt that the credit demand will slacken. And they cite as a strong point the increase in repayment of consumer credit. They say this proves both that family budgets are on the whole safely handled and that there'll be plenty of leeway for still more buying on time.

Repayments rose in most months of 1963 to a high of $4.8 billion in December from $4.6 billion in November.

But extensions of new installment credit was well ahead of that rate throughout the year. The expansion for the year over 1962 came to a record $5.7 billion, bringing the total outstanding to $53.7 billion.

Total personal assets are far above personal debts. Only a catastrophe or national emergency could upset the books. But even so the financial experts will keep an eye on the trend of instant debt for a clue to what's ahead for business and the individual.

Jumping to Some Conclusions

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions—and how many do you agree with?

Women formerly had an awe of men and a fear of mice. Today they have neither.

They no longer hold men in awe because it has become a woman's world, decade by decade, law by law. And they no longer are afraid of mice, because the average girl of 21 probably has never seen a mouse in her life except perhaps in a high school biological laboratory.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A NEW YORK traffic cop's attention was drawn to a lady motorist who was calmly driving down the wrong side of an avenue. He stopped her and inquired testily, "Don't you know what that white line in the middle of the avenue is for?"

The lady considered carefully, then hazarded, "Bicycles?"

The driver of a taxicab suddenly lost control of his vehicle, and it started careening wildly through the dense traffic near London's Trafalgar Square. The passenger, to make matters worse, hailed from Edinburgh. "Can't you stop this cab?" he cried to the driver. "No," admitted the driver. "It's out of control." "There's one thing then that you CAN do," rasped the Edinburgher. "Turn off the meter!"

Mr. Smyth-Smyth was showing off his new 18-room duplex apartment to his less fortunate boyhood friends who still lived on the crowded lower East Side. In the midst of the tour, an elegant butler appeared and announced, "Refreshments being served in the Louis XIV dining room." "Thank you," nodded Mr. Smyth-Smyth. "Where is it?"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

It is interesting to note that although heart disease is the most common complication of high blood pressure (hypertension) in the United States, this is not so in Japan.

Because of this unusual finding, an extensive study was completed on 461 Japanese patients in an effort to seek the reason for this phenomenon. It was found that high blood pressure alone did not necessarily cause heart disease. Overweight and a marked increase of cholesterol in the blood were evidently important additional factors that contribute to heart complications.

Dr. Sam Switzer, of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York City, undertook this study. He found that patients under forty years of age with high blood pressure had four times the incidence of arteriosclerosis in America than similar patients in Japan.

It was natural, therefore, for Dr. Switzer to investigate the differences in diet in the two countries. He learned that the Japanese consume about 20 grams of fat per day, while Americans consume five times more fat per day in their diets.

The cholesterol level in the blood of Americans of comparable age was almost twice that of the Japanese.

In the relatively few cases of Japanese patients who developed heart disease as a complication of high blood pressure, they were, interestingly, obese and had a rather high cholesterol level in the blood.

From this Dr. Switzer concluded that the best way of controlling high blood pressure and preventing it from developing into heart disease may be through the control of overweight and high cholesterol levels.

Research projects of this nature are in constant progress all over the world. Conclusions are immediately published in medical journals and translated into foreign languages. When the findings are corroborated, people of all nations use the information for their better health.

The Apache Indians in Arizona almost never develop coronary heart disease. In fact, not a single case of "coronary" was recorded among 147 Apaches above the age of 40.

Dr. Nathan J. Clifford, of Ventura, California, studied the White Mountain Apache tribe for two years for the purpose of explaining "why the American Indian has a death rate from heart disease that is 2 times lower than the general United States population."

The rarity of heart disease in the Apache tribe probably can be attributed to their dietary habits. Their total calorie intake is relatively low as compared to the average American. The Indians eat very little cheese, eggs, bacon or whole milk which are foods particularly high in saturated animal fats. It is known that these foods tend to raise the cholesterol level in the blood, so intimately linked to greater frequency of heart disease.

In this instance, another ethnic group within our own country contributes vital information from which other Americans may well profit.

Nothing Done on Cuba

By John Chamberlain

I don't get it. Just a year ago, on February 6, Secretary of Defense McNamara said, "I have no evidence that Cuba is being used as a base for subversion directed against Latin American countries." When asked what the U. S. would do if such a base were to be established, he answered: "Well, we have contingency plans to prevent that situation."

Just recently the Secretary of Defense said that it was well established that Cuba was a base for Latin American Communist subversion. This amounted to a clear admission by the Secretary that the "contingency plans" he had mentioned a year before had never been brought into play. Why not?

The reason for our inactivity could be that we are afraid of hitting Russians if we should attempt to get rid of Cuba as a subversion base where 88,000 "students" (the Cubans own figure) have been trained in sabotage since 1961. That the Russians remain in Cuba, and keep adding to their strength, is so well attested by the escaping refugees from Castro's paradise that it is impossible to doubt

it. The refugees are interviewed on their arrival by Spanish-speaking representatives of the Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba, an organization which both Senator Keating of New York and Senator Tom Dodd of Connecticut have found uncannily accurate as a source of news about Soviet activities in Cuba and Latin America.

During the last week in January a 24-year-old Cuban named Oscar Reyes managed to escape to the United States. A native of Oriente province, which is the site of the U. S. Naval base of Guantanamo, Reyes had been a truck driver for the Cuban Ministry of Interior Commerce. While pursuing his occupation Reyes kept coming upon Soviet military convoys. "Soviet troops," he said, "move around constantly in convoys, either to give the impression they are pulling out of their bases, to make it difficult to determine their numbers, or to be prepared for combat eventualities."

Another January fugitive from Oriente province, a 61-year-old merchant named Mortimer Fernandez, says that the number of Soviet operatives in the northern part of Oriente is "in excess of 7,000." "It is 80 kilometers from the city of Holguin to Banes," he told his interviewers in Miami. "Just along this road alone the Russians have eight camps, warehouses and air bases. Some are exclusively for Soviet combat troops; in others, Russian personnel live with their families. A phenomenal amount of underground construction goes on constantly. Some of the camps are for radio-directed missiles. Oriente is Russian-occupied, and people from there are indignant when they are told that Soviet soldiers have been with drawn from Cuba. Banes is the place where most of the Russians are located."

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. They must be signed by the writer with a complete return address. However the name and address will not be used in the published letter upon request of the writer. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor:

The committee which was formed to attempt to secure a branch of Ohio University at Teays Valley High School has worked for more than a year on this project.

We were, of course, very disappointed when OU decided that the branch would not be established at this time. As chairman of this committee, I wish to take this opportunity to thank everyone who cooperated, those who wrote letters, the newspapers and anyone who contributed in any other way.

The following observations are my own and do not necessarily represent the viewpoints of the committee:

1. I believe that the decisions was close and that had we had more active support from influential people in the county—especially Circleville—that it might have succeeded. It would seem that we particularly needed more support from area industries.

2. The case would probably be stronger if Circleville had the facilities and would make them available for a branch. However, from a practical standpoint Teays Valley drew strong support from southern Franklin County as well as from Pickaway County. It was requested that we have 100 full time students and 100 part time students to receive serious consideration. The final tally was 125 part time students and 65 full time students.

3. I would like to see some civic group in the county proceed with this idea as it will be increasingly needed in the future. The location is not as important as it is to secure the branch somewhere in the county. If I could assist some group from the experience that I have had with this project, I would be glad to do so.

4. Ohio State University would be interested in a branch if its requirements were met—500 students being one of them.

5. Perhaps if the County Commissioners could make land available, as has been done in other locations, that a branch campus could in time become a possibility. Or maybe some wealthy citizen would like to sponsor a site for a college. I understand that a county can now enact a levy to sponsor a junior college. This method could probably be supplemented by state funds. A branch at an already existing building would be the least costly and probably the most desirable in the foreseeable future.

6. I feel comments through this column "Letters to the Editor" would probably give some idea of the area's thinking.

There is a drip, drip, drip of this sort of testimony week after week as refugees manage to get out of Cuba. The Pentagon knows about it, the CIA knows about it, the State Department knows about it, the White House knows about it. But nobody does anything about it. Our "contingent plans" for dealing with Cuban-directed subversion remain contingent, even though identified killers are flown in and out of Panama from Cuba by way of Mexico with impunity. Nothing Done on Cuba

I don't get it. Just a year ago, on February 6, Secretary of Defense McNamara said, "I have no evidence that Cuba is being used as a base for subversion directed against Latin American countries." When asked what the U. S. would do if such a base were to be established, he answered: "Well, we have contingency plans to prevent that situation."

Just recently the Secretary of Defense said that it was well established that Cuba was a base for Latin American Communist subversion. This amounted to a clear admission by the Secretary that the "contingency plans" he had mentioned a year before had never been brought into play. Why not?

The reason for our inactivity could be that we are afraid of hitting Russians if we should attempt to get rid of Cuba as a subversion base where 88,000 "students" (the Cubans own figure) have been trained in sabotage since 1961. That the Russians remain in Cuba, and keep adding to their strength, is so well attested by the escaping refugees from Castro's paradise that it is impossible to doubt

it. The refugees are interviewed on their arrival by Spanish-speaking representatives of the Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba, an organization which both Senator Keating of New York and Senator Tom Dodd of Connecticut have found uncannily accurate as a source of news about Soviet activities in Cuba and Latin America.

During the last week in January a 24-year-old Cuban named Oscar Reyes managed to escape to the United States. A native of Oriente province, which is the site of the U. S. Naval base of Guantanamo, Reyes had been a truck driver for the Cuban Ministry of Interior Commerce. While pursuing his occupation Reyes kept coming upon Soviet military convoys. "Soviet troops," he said, "move around constantly in convoys, either to give the impression they are pulling out of their bases, to make it difficult to determine their numbers, or to be prepared for combat eventualities."

Another January fugitive from Oriente province, a 61-year-old merchant named Mortimer Fernandez, says that the number of Soviet operatives in the northern part of Oriente is "in excess of 7,000." "It is 80 kilometers from the city of Holguin to Banes," he told his interviewers in Miami. "Just along this road alone the Russians have eight camps, warehouses and air bases. Some are exclusively for Soviet combat troops; in others, Russian personnel live with their families. A phenomenal amount of underground construction goes on constantly. Some of the camps are for radio-directed missiles. Oriente is Russian-occupied, and people from there are indignant when they are told that Soviet soldiers have been with drawn from Cuba. Banes is the place where most of the Russians are located."

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. They must be signed by the writer with a complete return address. However the name and address will not be used in the published letter upon request of the writer. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor:

The committee which was formed to attempt to secure a branch of Ohio University at Teays Valley High School has worked for more than a year on this project.

We were, of course, very disappointed when OU decided that the branch would not be established at this time. As chairman of this committee, I wish to take this opportunity to thank everyone who cooperated, those who wrote letters, the newspapers and anyone who contributed in any other way.

The following observations are my own and do not necessarily represent the viewpoints of the committee:

1. I believe that the decisions was close and that had we had more active support from influential people in the county — especially Circleville — that it might have succeeded. It would seem that we particularly needed more support from area industries.

2. The case would probably be stronger if Circleville had the facilities and would make them available for a branch. However, from a practical standpoint Teays Valley drew strong support from southern Franklin County as well as from Pickaway County. It was requested that we have 100 full time students and 100 part time students to receive serious consideration. The final tally was 125 part time students and 65 full time students.

3. I would like to see some civic group in the county proceed with this idea as it will be increasingly needed in the future. The location is not as important as it is to secure the branch somewhere in the county. If I could assist some group from the experience that I have had with this project, I would be glad to do so.

4. Ohio State University would be interested in a branch if its requirements were met — 500 students being one of them.

5. Perhaps if the County Commissioners could make land available, as has been done in other locations, that a branch campus could in time become a possibility. Or maybe some wealthy citizen would like to sponsor a site for a college. I understand that a county can now enact a levy to sponsor a junior college. This method could probably be supplemented by state funds. A branch at an already existing building would be the least costly and probably the most desirable in the foreseeable future.

6. I feel comments through this column "Letters to the Editor" would probably give some idea of the area's thinking.

Thirty other escapees from the Oriente area corroborated Fernandez's testimony. The Russians, for the sake of protocol, generally wear civilian clothes, but their checked and plaid shirts correspond in color to their branch of service, whether it is the artillery, the infantry, or the air force.

There is a drip, drip, drip of this sort of testimony week after week as refugees manage to get out of Cuba. The Pentagon knows about it, the CIA knows about it, the State Department knows about it, the White House knows about it. But nobody does anything about it. Our "contingency plans" for dealing with Cuban-directed subversion remain contingent, even though identified killers are flown in and out of Panama from Cuba by way of Mexico with impunity. Meanwhile our economic blockade of Cuba is as leaky as a sieve.

Canada has agreed to sell some 13,000 Holstein bulls to Cuba for breeding purposes to build up decimated dairy herds. Chile is considering exchanging 10,000 tons of beans, 100,000 tons of saltpeper and 2,000 tons of garlic for Cuban sugar.

The Swedes have opened an eight-year line of credit in Havana which will permit the Cubans to get raw materials and replacement parts for the light steel reinforced concrete industry, which has been busy supplying the sinews for Soviet military construction throughout the island. And, having completed its trade deal that will send $51 million worth of Spanish-built fishing trawlers to Cuba, the Spanish government is thinking of providing Castro with trains and industrial equipment.

Did someone say the "Colossus of the North," as the U. S. was once known in Latin America, has been renamed Uncle Mickey Mouse?

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans have embraced instant debt along with all the other modern conveniences of family living.

Consumer credit has been growing at a record rate. Mortgage totals have swelled, with remortgaging to raise cash an increasing item.

All of this helps boost the statistics that show the general economy is bigger and better than ever.

Since savings and other family assets also have been rising—in total, if not in your particular case—financial experts pronounce the growing personal debt as still below the danger line.

It does raise some questions for bankers, manufacturers and merchants.

One is the direction of interest rates. The strong demand for consumer types of credit, added to rising borrowing at all levels of government, and to the possibility that business will be seeking more loans, too, should keep the money markets firm.

A little more oomph by any of the three might send demand for credit high enough to increase interest charges. This is even more likely since the Federal Reserve has indicated it would restrain credit if economic growth and a federal tax cut combined to threaten another round of inflation.

A second question is how much of today's general economic prosperity depends on the big expansion in credit demand. Could any reversal of today's trend to borrow more and more for the purchase of goods, services and homes spiral into a business slump?

Bankers doubt that the credit demand will slacken. And they cite as a strong point the increase in repayment of consumer credit. They say this proves both that family budgets are on the whole safely handled and that there'll be plenty of leeway for still more buying on time.

Repayments rose in most months of 1963 to a high of $4.8 billion in December from $4.6 billion in November.

But extensions of new installment credit was well ahead of that rate throughout the year. The expansion for the year over 1962 came to a record $5.7 billion, bringing the total outstanding to $53.7 billion.

Total personal assets are far above personal debts. Only a catastrophe or national emergency could upset the books. But even so the financial experts will keep an eye on the trend of instant debt for a clue to what's ahead for business and the individual.

Jumping to Some Conclusions

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions—and how many do you agree with?

Women formerly had an awe of men and a fear of mice. Today they have neither.

They no longer hold men in awe because it has become a woman's world, decade by decade, law by law. And they no longer are afraid of mice, because the average girl of 21 probably has never seen a mouse in her life except perhaps in a high school biological laboratory.

A millionaire may know how to make money, but his advice is no better than the next fellow's when it comes to suggestions on how to cure your attack of hiccups.

Drinking lots of milk in your youth is no guarantee you'll have good teeth when you're older.

Two mythical persons I've always heard about but never met are—the innocent bystander and the total stranger. There is something familiar about every stranger, and no bystander is without some guilt.

I always feel sorry for the guy who brags he owns "a one-man dog." I feel either the man is awfully lonely—or his dog has poor judgment.

The hardest thing to forgive in an old friend is to see him taking up new vices you no longer feel up to yourself.

The easiest way for hospitals to pay off their deficits would be for them to charge spectators a fee to watch operations. People today are starved for live entertainment. They are sick and tired of canned amusement.

Never lend money to a man who uses a gold toothpick in public. He's only trying to build up a false credit rating.

A government is never safe if its bureaucrats start employing undue influence on its businessmen—instead of vice versa.

It pays in this world to concentrate on the important things. A man who learns only to solve such problems as how to get ketchup out of a bottle easily, rarely gets written up in history books.

You can always find out what is going on in a city by talking to its cab drivers—and then discounting what they tell you by 50 per cent. For all cab drivers suspect twice as much as they really know.

You can tell how many things own a man by the number of keys he carries in his pocket.

Dear Abby:

by Abigail Van Buren

That's for the Birds!

DEAR ABBY: I have had people tell me that their parakeets talked, but I have listened to these birds and never could make out what they were trying to say—until last night! I was at the home of a friend who had a parakeet that said, "Kiss me, big boy," "Bottoms up," and "What's your hurry, beautiful?" as clearly as any human. I asked her some questions about the parakeet and she said that first you must be sure you have a male because only the males talk. The females won't utter a sound. Then she said you must put the parakeet in a teapot and whisper down the spout whatever you want him to memorize. Was she kidding me? I was too convinced at the time to question her, but now I have my doubts.

DOUBTING
DEAR DOUBTING: She must have been pulling your leg. Females of all species can outtalk the male—feathered, furred or human.

DEAR ABBY: I want to sound off about these salespeople who come into your office during working hours and take up your time trying to sell you cosmetics, insurance, vitamins, etc. Don't they realize that you are working for an employer, and your time is his time? I work in a six-girl office and someone is constantly barging in to sell something. It's rude to tell them to leave, but all the while you are wondering when your boss is going to come up behind you and ask you whose payroll you're on.

PEEVED
DEAR PEEVED: It's dishonest for an employee to spend her boss' time on the receiving end of some sales spiel. It's not necessary to be "rude" in informing a salesperson that you cannot give him your time. But if one must choose between rudeness and dishonesty, rudeness is the lesser.

DEAR ABBY: A girl friend of ours dated a fellow for seven months. She fell in love with him, and he supposedly fell in love with her. Suddenly he dropped her like a hot potato. As a result, she will not accept a date with any other man and she even refuses invitations to go out with her friends. She isolates herself in her apartment practically every night. Is there anything we can do to help her? It's been this way for five months, but none of us can reach her.

R. AND C.
DEAR R. AND C.: It's impossible to "reach" anyone who does not want to be reached. Make no reference to her "ex" and continue to invite her out with you. When she WANTS to emerge, she will.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. D.W. IN WESTWOOD: Call your County Dental Association and ask for an appointment with the committee that determines if the chiseling you got was worth the chiseling you got.

Speech Therapy Discussed

Robert Wellington, speech therapist for the city schools, was guest speaker when the Child Conservation League met in the home of Mrs. Richard Penn, Springhollow Road.

Explaining the speech program of the city schools, Wellington pointed out it is divided into three phases — preliminaries, speech therapy, which is types of problems, and hearing conservation.

In order for a school to have a speech therapy department, the state has certain requirements that have to be met. There must be an area to work in, a large wall mirror, a large table, five or six chairs, a tape recorder and an audiometer. Wellington works with three lists. 1. An active case load list of 75-100 students. He works with no less than 75 and no more than 100. 2. A waiting list of 75-85 students. 3. A medical referral list of students whose speech trouble could be caused by a physical problem.

The next step in speech rehabilitation is grouping. He groups students, five or less, as to the type of speech problem. He emphasized that speech and hearing therapy in school is not like a clinical situation and progress can be made and is being made in the schools. Approximately 80 per cent of all speech cases in Ohio are articulation problems. To show the differences between articulation, stuttering and nasality, the speaker played tapes sounding these problems.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren

That's for the Birds!

DEAR ABBY: I have had people tell me that their parakeets talked, but I have listened to these birds and never could make out what they were trying to say—until last night! I was at the home of a friend who had a parakeet that said, "Kiss me, big boy," "Bottoms up," and "What's your hurry, beautiful?" as clearly as any human. I asked her some questions about the parakeet and she said that first you must be sure you have a male because only the males talk. The females won't utter a sound. Then she said you must put the parakeet in a teapot and whisper down the spout whatever you want him to memorize. Was she kidding me? I was too convinced at the time to question her, but now I have my doubts.

DEAR DOUBTING: She must have been pulling your leg. Females of all species can outtalk the male—feathered, furred or human.

months. She fell in love with him, and he supposedly fell in love with her. Suddenly he dropped her like a hot potato. As a result, she will not accept a date with any other man and she even refuses invitations to go out with her friends. She isolates herself in her apartment practically every night. IS there anything we can do to help her? It's been this way for five months, but none of us can reach her.

R. AND C.
 DEAR R. AND C.: It's impossible to "reach" anyone who does not want to be reached. Make no reference to her "ex" and continue to invite her out with you. When she WANTS to emerge, she will.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. D.W. IN WESTWOOD: Call your County Dental Association and ask for an appointment with the committee that determines if the chiseling you got was worth the chiseling you got.

DEAR ABBY: I want to sound off about these salespeople who come into your office during working hours and take up your time trying to sell you cosmetics, insurance, vitamins, etc. Don't they realize that you are working for an employer, and your time is his time? I work in a six-girl office and someone is constantly barging in to sell something. It's rude to tell them to leave, but all the while you are wondering when your boss is going to come up behind you and ask you whose payroll you're on.

PEEVED
 DEAR PEEVED: It's dishonest for an employee to spend her boss' time on the receiving end of some sales spiel. It's not necessary to be "rude" in informing a salesperson that you cannot give him your time. But if one must choose between rudeness and dishonesty, rudeness is the lesser.

DEAR ABBY: A girl friend of ours dated a fellow for seven

Reporter Says U.S., Russia Drifting Together

CLEVELAND (AP)—Russia and the United States are becoming more like each other, says Eddie Gilmore of the Associated Press' London bureau.
A new society—not Communism—is being born in the Soviet Union, Gilmore said in a Town Hall talk at the Higbee Co.

"It is not what Karl Marx envisioned," said the Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist. "We in the West are moving toward the same system, for which there is no name as yet."
Gilmore said there are signs indicating this thesis in long-range planning in Western nations and growing importance in the United States of the federal governments.
In Russia, he said, pure Communism is being diluted with increasing interest in the profit motive and market factors.

CINCINNATI (AP)—David King's second trial on charges of offering obscene books for sale resulted in a hung jury Thursday.

Science Makes Progress With Irradiated Foods

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army researchers have talked of how they could put a fried chicken leg—just like mother used to cook—in the back pocket of every soldier in a foxhole.

It isn't as fantastic as it sounds. Ten years of research on preserving food by radiation is beginning to bear fruit—meat and potatoes, too. But there's more research to be done before purchase of such items in supermarkets becomes commonplace.

The Food and Drug Administration has approved irradiated bacon and is expected to approve, within the next month, irradiated potatoes for which an application is pending. Applications are pending, too, for irradiated oranges and lemons.

Irradiation to preserve food is done by gamma rays or electron beams. It's the kind that doesn't stay on to leave any lingering radio-activity—it kills decaying agents and moves on.

FDA approval means that the irradiated food items are stamped safe for human consumption. Researchers have talked of these advantages, among others, of irradiation to preserve food:

A farmer could virtually eliminate spoilage by giving his fruit a dose of radiation as soon as it is harvested.

A housewife could buy a ham, chicken or turkey and keep it on the pantry shelf for months.

Commercial fishermen could triple the shelf life of certain fish and other seafoods by giving them a dose of radiation and storing them at one degree above freezing.

The American soldier anywhere in the world could get food that tastes like the fresh item back home.

The Army has done extensive research at its Natick, Mass., Food Preservation Library to find good field rations for its men.

Will radiation processing replace established methods such as canning and freezing?

No, says Anthony A. Bertasch, head of the government's interdepartmental committee on radiation preservation of food.

"It's like everything else in an expanding economy and a growing population—it's not going to displace anything," Bertasch said in an interview.

Estimates are that it won't hit the commercial market until about 1970.

Nearly all of the 133 Nazarene Churches in the central Ohio district will be represented. The conference will be in charge of the district superintendent, Dr. Harvey S. Galloway, Columbus. Guest speakers will be Dr. V. H. Lewis and Dr. Willard Taylor, both of Kansas City, Mo.

MY

PRAYER

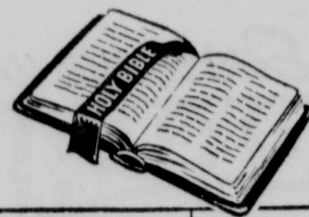

I'll never forget the first time I saw a harp. I was walking by a music store with my mother and it was there in the window, tall and golden. I knew, then and there, that I wanted to be a harpist.

But, my heart sank, for I knew my parents could afford neither the instrument nor the lessons. I started to pray every night to God to send me a harp.

Nothing happened. My small spirit rebelled, and I blurted out to my Sunday School teacher that my prayer hadn't been answered. My teacher was a wonderful woman. She just said, "You've been going about this in the wrong way, Ann. You've been demanding something of God. Don't you think it would be better if you asked Him?"

Her quiet words made an impression. The tenor of my prayers changed. And the teachings of the Church meant more to me than ever.

Well — in time I did become a harpist. Recently, I played my first concert. And as the great, golden instrument came to life beneath my fingers I hoped that the angels, too, were smiling.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Reporter Says
U.S., Russia
Drifting Together

CLEVELAND (AP)—Russia and the United States are becoming more like each other, said Eddie Gilmore of the Associated Press' London bureau.

A new society—not Communism—is being born in the Soviet Union, Gilmore said in a Town Hall talk at the Higbee Co.

"It is not what Karl Marx envisioned," said the Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist. "We in the West are moving toward the same system, for which there is no name as yet."

Gilmore said there are signs indicating this thesis in long-range planning in Western nations and growing importance in the United States of the federal governments.

In Russia, he said, pure Communism is being diluted with increasing interest in the profit motive and market factors.

Science Makes Progress With Irradiated Foods

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army
researchers have talked of how they could put a fried chicken leg—just like mother used to cook—in the back pocket of every soldier in a foxhole.

It isn't as fantastic as it sounds.

Ten years of research on preserving food by radiation is beginning to bear fruit—meat and potatoes, too. But there's more research to be done before purchase of such items in supermarkets becomes commonplace.

The Food and Drug Administration has approved irradiated bacon and is expected to approve, within the next month, irradiated potatoes for which an application is pending. Applications are pending, too, for irradiated oranges and lemons.

Irradiation to preserve food is done by gamma rays or electron beams. It's the kind that doesn't stay on to leave any lingering radio-activity—it kills decaying agents and moves on.

FDA approval means that the irradiated food items are stamped safe for human consumption.

Researchers have talked of these advantages, among others, of irradiation to preserve food:

A farmer could virtually eliminate spoilage by giving his fruit a dose of radiation as soon as it is harvested.

A housewife could buy a ham, chicken or turkey and keep it on the pantry shelf for months.

Commercial fishermen could triple the shelf life of certain fish and other seafoods by giving them a dose of radiation and storing them at one degree above freezing.

The American soldier anywhere in the world could get food that tastes like the fresh item back home.

The Army has done extensive research at its Natick, Mass., Food Preservation Library to find good field rations for its men.

Will radiation processing replace established methods such as canning and freezing?

No, says Anthony A. Bertasch, head of the government's interdepartmental committee on radiation preservation of food.

"It's like everything else in an expanding economy and a growing population—it's not going to displace anything,"
Bertasch said in an interview.

Estimates are that it won't hit the commercial market until about 1970.

MY

UPSIDE

PRAYER

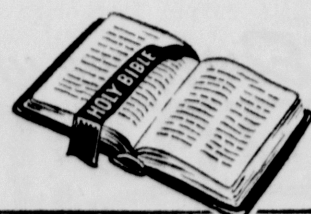

I'll never forget the first time I saw a harp. I was walking by a music store with my mother and it was there in the window, tall and golden. I knew, then and there, that I wanted to be a harpist.

But, my heart sank, for I knew my parents could afford neither the instrument nor the lessons. I started to pray every night to God to send me a harp.

Nothing happened. My small spirit rebelled, and I blurted out to my Sunday School teacher that my prayer hadn't been answered. My teacher was a wonderful woman. She just said, "You've been going about this in the wrong way, Ann. You've been demanding something of God. Don't you think it would be better if you asked Him?"

Her quiet words made an impression. The tenor of my prayers changed. And the teachings of the Church meant more to me than ever.

Well — in time I did become a harpist. Recently, I played my first concert. And as the great, golden in-strument came to life beneath my fingers I hoped that the angels, too, were smiling.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4)
For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Peter, James and John

EVENTS IN THE LIVES OF THE THREE MEN
CLOSEST TO CHRIST

Scripture—Matthew 4:18-22; 17:1-13; Mark 8:16, 17; 14:32-42;
Luke 8:49-56; Acts 4:13; 12:1-3.

By E. H. RAMSEY

OF THE MULTITUDES who followed Christ, only three men—Peter, James and John—made up the innermost circle of those closest to Christ. In today's lesson we shall explore several events in their lives which demonstrate this close-ness.

In Matthew 4:18-22 we learn how Christ, walking by the Sea of Galilee, saw Andrew and Peter, with their partners, James and John, plying their trade as fishermen. He calls to them, saying, "Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men." Immediately, the four leave their boats and nets to follow Him.

For Andrew and Peter, this was no spur-of-the-moment decision, for they had met the Master more than a year before when John the Baptist gave witness to Jesus as the Son of God (John 1:35-42). One assumes that they had told James and John of this experience so they, too, were ready to follow Christ when He called them. These four, and eight others, comprise the twelve who became transfigured before them and heard Him talking with two others who suddenly appeared, whom they recognized, not knowing how, as Moses and Elijah. Their natural awe becomes terror as they hear the voice from the cloud and they fall face down on the ground, staying in that position until Jesus raises them. On their way down the mountain they question Christ vigorously. Apparently He answers their questions, but swears them all to secrecy concerning what they have seen. Obviously, Jesus had an absolute trust and faith in these three men.

This trust and faith leads Christ to take the three with Him into the garden of Gethsemane, bidding them to wait and watch while He prays (Mark 14:32-42). He is greatly disturbed and ill at ease for He, alone, knows that His hour has come. Ignorant of their own human weaknesses, secure and self-confident in a valiant faith that exists only in their imaginations, the disciples fall asleep. So it was that, when Judas arrived with the soldiers, Jesus mentioned in Mark 3:16-19, who went up into the hills with Jesus to learn from Him before being sent forth to preach.

"For we cannot but speak of the things which we have seen and heard."—Acts 4:20.

We find Peter, James and John again in Luke 8:49-56, when Jesus is called upon by Jairus to heal his dying daughter. Why these three? Perhaps they had a deeper sympathy with Christ, a greater sensitivity to His touch and command, a more profound understanding of His motives, or perhaps they could be trusted to remain silent concerning these miracles until after our Lord's resurrection. Whatever Christ's reasons, he permitted only these three of His disciples to accompany Him into the room where the dead girl lay, and to witness His power to save even to the uttermost.

The Transfiguration of our Lord, as recorded in Matthew 17:1-13 (also in Mark 9:2-13 and Luke 9:28-36), took place during the third year of Christ's public ministry. In this lesson we will not dwell on the Transfiguration itself, but upon the presence there of the innermost three. They watched as Christ was, for all practical purposes, alone.

The Acts of the Apostles is a continuation of the Gospel according to Luke by the same author. Its vivid narrative is the chief source of our knowledge of early Christianity and the persecutions suffered by the early church.

In Acts 4:13 we find Peter and John seized while preaching in the temple and thrown into prison. Brought before the high priest, Peter offers a brilliant defense of their actions and faith in Christ. Finding little to punish the Apostles for, the high priest reprimands them and releases them.

Herod (grandson of the Herod who reigned at the time of Christ's birth) fulfills Christ's prophecy (Mark 10:33) by seizing James and slaying him (Acts 12:1-3).

Following James' martyrdom, Peter is once more cast into prison and beaten, but this particular imprisonment is terminated by angelic intervention, and Peter is preserved for many years of service before his own martyrdom takes place.

Peter, James and John

EVENTS IN THE LIVES OF THE THREE MEN
CLOSEST TO CHRIST

Scripture—Matthew 4:18-22; 27:1-13; Mark 8:16, 17; 14:38-42;
Luke 8:49-56; Acts 4:13; 12:1-3.

By E. H. RAMSEY

OF THE MULTITUDES who followed Christ, only three men—Peter, James and John—made up the innermost circle of those closest to Christ. In today's lesson we shall explore several events in their lives which demonstrate this close-ness.

In Matthew 4:18-22 we learn how Christ, walking by the Sea of Galilee, saw Andrew and Peter, with their partners, James and John, plying their trade as fishermen. He calls to them, saying, "Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men." Immediately, the four leave their boats and nets to follow Him.

For Andrew and Peter, this was no spur-of-the-moment decision, for they had met the Master more than a year before when John the Baptist gave witness to Jesus as the Son of God (John 1:35-42). One assumes that they had told James and John of this experience so they, too, were ready to follow Christ when He called them. These four, and eight others, comprise the twelve became transfigured before them and heard Him talking with two others who suddenly appeared, whom they recognized, not knowing how, as Moses and Elijah. Their natural awe becomes terror as they hear the voice from the cloud and they fall face down on the ground, staying in that position until Jesus raises them. On their way down the mountain they question Christ vigorously. Apparently He answers their questions, but swears them all to secrecy concerning what they have seen. Obviously, Jesus had an absolute trust and faith in these three men.

This trust and faith leads Christ to take the three with Him into the garden of Gethsemane, bidding them to wait and watch while He prays (Mark 14:32-42). He is greatly disturbed and ill at ease for He, alone, knows that His hour has come. Ignorant of their own human weaknesses, secure and self-confident in a valiant faith that exists only in their imaginations, the disciples fall asleep. So it was that, when Judas arrived with the soldiers, Jesus mentioned in Mark 3:16-19, who went up into the hills with Jesus to learn from Him before being sent forth to preach.

GOLDEN TEXT

We find Peter, James and John again in Luke 8:49-56, when Jesus is called upon by Jairus to heal his dying daughter. Why these three? Perhaps they had a deeper sympathy with Christ, a greater sensitivity to His touch and command, a more profound understanding of His motives, or perhaps they could be trusted to remain silent concerning these miracles until after our Lord's resurrection. Whatever Christ's reasons, He permitted only these three of His disciples to accompany Him into the room where the dead girl lay, and to witness His power to save even to the uttermost.

The Transfiguration of our Lord, as recorded in Matthew 17:1-13 (also in Mark 9:2-13 and Luke 9:28-36), took place during the third year of Christ's public ministry. In this lesson we will not dwell on the Transfiguration itself, but upon the presence there of the innermost three. They watched as Christ was, for all practical purposes, alone.

The Acts of the Apostles is a continuation of the Gospel according to Luke by the same author. Its vivid narrative is the chief source of our knowledge of early Christianity and the persecutions suffered by the early church.

In Acts 4:13 we find Peter and John seized while preaching in the temple and thrown into prison. Brought before the high priest, Peter offers a brilliant defense of their actions and faith in Christ. Finding little to punish the Apostles for, the high priest reprimands them and releases them.

Herod (grandson of the Herod who reigned at the time of Christ's birth) fulfills Christ's prophecy (Mark 10:39) by seizing James and slaying him (Acts 12:1-3).

Following James' martyrdom, Peter is once more cast into prison and beaten, but this particular imprisonment is terminated by angelic intervention, and Peter is preserved for many years of service before his own martyrdom takes place.

Red and Black Revived

By CHERYL JENKINS

We, members of the Journalism Class of Circleville High School of 1963-64, are proud to present for the first time in 21 years the Red and Black page.

This page was initiated in February of 1928. It was a weekly feature until 1943 when it was discontinued due to war conditions at that time.

During the 15 years of its existence it was quite an important item in the lives of many students. We want to try to make it as important to present day students.

We will appreciate cooperation, acceptance, opinions and contributions to our revival of The Red and Black. With your help we can make it just as successful this time as it was before.

This editorial pertains to all readers of The Herald, not just high school students.

Valentines' Day Is World Wide

By ANITA HENDRICKSON

In the United States and Canada, children exchange Valentines with their school friends. In some schools, the children hold a classroom party and place all the valentines in an attractive box that they have made.

Elementary school children like to make their own valentines. Older students enjoy Valentine's Day dances and parties. They may make candy baskets, favors, and place cards, all gaily trimmed with cupids and red hearts. Men often send their wives or sweethearts flowers or boxes of candy instead of Valentine greeting cards.

In Great Britain, children sing special Valentine's Day songs and receive gifts of money, fruit, or candy. Housewives in the country of Rutland bake Valentine's Day buns that contain caraway seeds and plums or currants.

Years ago, children in Norfolk County played a game similar to tag on Valentine's Day. The person tagged had to pay a forfeit of some small Valentine token. In the town of Norwich, a young suitor would secretly leave a basket of gifts on his loved one's doorstep. He would knock, and then run away.

In Italy, people in some areas hold a Valentine's Day. They stand by their windows, sometimes for hours, watching for a man to pass the house. Each girl believes that the first man she sees, or someone who looks like him, will become her bridegroom within the year.

In Denmark, some people send pressed snowdrop flowers to special friends on Valentine's Day. The Danes call one type of Valentine "gaekkebrew," or joking letter. The sender writes an original rhyme but does not sign his name. He uses a code of dots, with one dot representing each letter of his name. If his young lady guesses his name and tells him, he rewards her with an Easter egg on the following Easter.

In Derbyshire, England, youngwomen circle the church twelve times at midnight and repeat the words, "I sow hempseed, hempseed, I sow, he that loves me best, come after me now." After that, their true valentine was supposed to appear.

Some young ladies rose early on February 14th, looked through their keyholes and hoped to see two objects. If a girl saw only one object in her first peep through the keyhole, she supposedly had little chance of being married that year. Some ladies got five bay-leaves, pinned four to the corners of their pillows and one in the middle. If they'd dream of their sweetheart, they would be married before the year is out. They would write their lover's names on bits of paper, roll them up, put them in clay and drop it in water; the first to rise up in the water would be their valentine.

Mrs. Eleanor Fisher, principal and teacher at Walnut St. School, recently attended an English Workshop, which was held at Lancaster High School. The speaker for the workshop was Dr. Ruth Strickland, Educational Consultant, University of Indiana.

During the morning session, there were group meetings of the primary, elementary, junior high and senior high teachers. The afternoon was spent in a question and answer period.

Mary and Vicky Brannon, Walnut Street students, moved with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Brannon, to the Airforce Base at Adana, Turkey.

Elizabeth Knight entered second grade at Walnut St. Building on Jan. 2. Elizabeth was surprised to see so much snow, since she had lived in Atlanta, Georgia. Her father is an electrical Engineer with the Container Corporation.

Although our library has many books, a bigger one is greatly needed. The library is not large enough compared to the school enrollment. More money is needed for books and other materials. Most of the library funds are provided by the Board of Education although the Senior Class of 1963, the Senior Service Over Self Club, the sophomore Service Over Self Club, and the Senior Girls Athletic Association have contributed money to the library.

At present, to help solve the overcrowded conditions in the library, former classroom 215 is being used for reserved books and additional library seating.

SUE: How is your typing speed coming along, Sal?

SAL: Fine. Now I can make twenty mistakes a minute.

The absent-minded science teacher brought a package into class. "I caught a frog and a toad yesterday," he said to his students. "Now we'll have a test. I want to see if you can tell which is which."

Then he opened the package and took out a ham sandwich and a cheese sandwich. "My goodness!" he exclaimed. "I could have sworn I just ate my lunch."

A friend found the absent minded professor going around and around in a revolving door with a desperate look on his face.

"What's the trouble?" the friend called.

"I can't remember whether I'm on my way in or on my way out."

And then there was the professor who graded exams so strictly that he flunked three pupils for writing periods upside down.

Chilly Man Sets Fire Inside Food Freezer

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Henry Lopez, 45, a kitchen worker, knew how to beat the cold when he accidentally was locked inside a food freezer at a restaurant.

He built a fire with vegetable crates.

The idea backfired. Employees opened the freezer door 10 minutes later and found Lopez warm but unconscious.

Too much smoke, doctors said. He was reported in satisfactory condition after hospital treatment.

Although our library has many books, a bigger one is greatly needed. The library is not large enough compared to the school enrollment. More money is needed for books and other materials. Most of the library funds are provided by the Board of Education although the Senior Class of 1963, the Senior Service Over Self Club, the sophomore Service Over Self Club, and the Senior Girls Athletic Association have contributed money to the library.

At present, to help solve the overcrowded conditions in the library, former classroom 215 is being used for reserved books and additional library seating.

The Lightside

SUE: How is your typing speed coming along, Sal?

SAL: Fine. Now I can make twenty mistakes a minute.

The absent-minded science teacher brought a package into class. "I caught a frog and a toad yesterday," he said to his students. "Now we'll have a test. I want to see if you can tell which is which."

A friend found the absent minded professor going around and around in a revolving door with a desperate look on his face.

"What's the trouble?" the friend called.

"I can't remember whether I'm on my way in or on my way out."

And then there was the professor who graded exams so strictly that he flunked three pupils for writing periods upside down.

Chilly Man Sets Fire Inside Food Freezer

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Henry Lopez, 45, a kitchen worker, knew how to beat the cold when he accidentally was locked inside a food freezer at a restaurant.

He built a fire with vegetable crates.

The idea backfired.

Employees opened the freezer door 10 minutes later and found Lopez warm but unconscious.

Too much smoke, doctors said. He was reported in satisfactory condition after hospital treatment.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP) — O. Earl Greenawald, about 62, former mayor of East Liverpool and operator of an insurance agency here for many years, was found dead Thursday on a farm near Lisbon, where he had been hunting. Death apparently was caused by a heart attack, the coroner said.

Wilt Dunks 40 Points in Warrior Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wilt Chamberlain flipped in 40 points as the San Francisco Warriors beat the Detroit Pistons 104-97 and tightened their hold on first place in the close Western Division race of the National Basketball Association.

Chamberlain and Wayne Hightower combined for 34 points in the second half as the Warriors pulled away after leading by only 60-59 at the half.

The victory at San Jose Thursday night was San Francisco's fourth straight and 10th in a row at "home" for the Warriors. Bailey Howell's 33 points kept the Pistons in contention all the way.

The Boston Celtics nipped the Baltimore Bullets 94-92 and the Philadelphia 76ers whipped the New York Knicks 128-117 in the other NBA games Thursday.

Bill Russell was the big noise as the Celtics weathered a closing Baltimore rally to edge the Bullets before 10,210 at the University of Maryland's Cole Field House in College Park, Md. Big Bill grabbed 34 rebounds and scored 15 points.

Walt Bellamy tallied 29 points for the Bullets for the game's high scoring honors.

Hal Greer scored 33 points, including 12 in the final quarter to balk a New York rally as the 76ers handed the visiting Knicks their fourth straight defeat. Al Butler led the Knicks with 25.

Radatz, Conley Sign with Bosox

BOSTON (AP)—Hulking Dick Radatz is eager to resume his role as the American League's best relief pitcher and is 27 pounds lighter than a year ago to prove it.

Veteran Gene Conley has scrapped basketball and his dual major league career to concentrate on his attempt at a pitching comeback from 1963 arm trouble.

Both are among seven players who have signed contracts, the Boston Red Sox announced today. The others include Bill Spanswick, the man the club hopes becomes the first starting southpaw since Mel Parnell; Bobby Guindon, Jim Gosger, Jerry Dorsch and left-hander Bill Rohr.

Most successful Big Ten conversions on the one game last year were five. Dave Fronek of Wisconsin made five extra points against Purdue, and so did Jim Plankenhorn of Illinois.

Put-in-Bay Ice Reported 'Good'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Wildlife Division reports that the brightest spot for ice fishermen right now is Lake Erie. Put-in-Bay ice conditions are good with perch and smelt being taken. Sandusky Bay fishermen are also doing well in places and Reno Beach and Catawba fishermen can expect fair success this weekend.

Elsewhere ice conditions are not too good but reports from Northeast Ohio say some catches are being made. Ice is not safe in Central Ohio; in the southeast bass and bluegills are being taken. Ice conditions are poor generally in the southwest.

NYU Looms Anew as Cage Power

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NYU, regarded by many as the bust of the season only a month ago, appears to be on the way back in college basketball.

Second ranked nationally in the preseason Associated Press poll, the Violets from New York City toppled from their high perch when they were beaten by Wagner, a minor team from Staten Island.

Three other defeats by major schools—Toledo, Michigan and St. Joseph's, Pa.—left the Violets with a disappointing 6-4 mark in January when they took a three-week break for exams.

The rest seemingly has dispelled whatever was wrong with the Violets. Their one-two punch All-America Barry Kramer and Happy Hairston, have been in old time form in three straight victories over Santa Clara, Army and Holy Cross since resuming competition.

They crushed the Crusaders 103-83 Thursday night with Hairston getting 38 points and Kramer 27 for a combined total of 65. The victory was another step in a February drive that the Violets hope will earn them an at-large berth in the NCAA championship tournament next month.

Kid, Old Folks Slated for Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Remember the old boxing story about the kid on the way up fighting the veteran with one last chance?

Joey Archer is cast as the kid and Holly Mims as old folks tonight at Madison Square Garden.

Archer is No. 2 in the middle-weight rankings, hopeful of a title shot against Joey Giardello in the fall after the champ's six-month period of grace expires.

In the meantime, Archer wants to keep busy, even if it means risking his lofty rating. He has a 38-1 record and is working on a seven-bout winning streak.

Palmer Lagging In Phoenix Open

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Arnold Palmer's bid to win a fourth straight Phoenix Open Golf Tournament title faced increasing opposition today with 14 golfers ahead of him, Don Fairfield leading the list.

Never has a golfer won the same PGA tour event four consecutive years and going into the second 18 holes, Palmer's attempt rates a long shot—yet isn't impossible.

His opening one-under-par 70 over the flat Phoenix Country Club Course left him four strokes behind Fairfield's 66.

Birdie, Paul Disagree on Tribe Future

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Apparently General Manager Gabe Paul and field boss Birdie Tebbetts don't see eye to eye on how their Cleveland Indians will fare this season.

Paul and Tebbetts, along with other Cleveland officials, were in town Thursday to entertain Central Ohio sports writers with shrimp cocktails, T-bone steaks and baseball talk.

Paul, exuding optimism, spoke in glowing terms of his team's chances for an American League flag.

"We had more kids come through for us last year than we had a right to expect," he said. "We've turned the corner. I'm very optimistic about 1964."

Tebetts, who delighted the gathering with his home-spun philosophy, exercised a bit more caution.

"We've just got to be a better ball club than last year," Tebbetts said. "Last year, I had to dedicate my job to the development of youth. This season, we'll be a more interesting ball club."

The Tribe manager said every championship team must have one or two great players. He indicated that two of his performers might fit neatly into that category.

"Max Alvis and Vic Davalillo show promise of greatness," Tebbetts said in heaping praise on the two young players.

Finley, City Fail To Agree On Rental

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics and City Council have failed again to agree on a contract for Municipal Stadium and owner Charles O. Finley is unhappy because the city refused to help with his ticket drive.

"The mayor has said that he has a crew ready to help with the sale of tickets," Finley said after Thursday's negotiations. "But this afternoon when I asked him if he would release them while we are negotiating, he flatly refused. He said he would turn them loose when he had a four-year lease and not before."

Said Mayor Ilus W. Davis: "I don't see how he can call on the city to assist him in selling tickets when he doesn't have a lease on the stadium."

After the talks—the sixth since Finley's lease expired—Finley said he would ask for another meeting of American League owners "to bring them up to date."

On Jan. 16 the owners refused his proposal too move the A's to Louisville, Ky. Since then, Finley has talked with officials in Oakland, Calif. about playing there.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, says the course the United States takes over Cuba's threat to cut off water to Guantanamo Naval Base should depend on whether our Guantanamo treaty has been violated.

Plymouth Dealers proudly announce...

America's newest and lowest-priced V-8[†] ...VALIANT!

Signet 2-door hardtop

(and it couldn't happen to a better all-around compact)

This announcement is for people who want compact economy and convenience, but who still want plenty of zoom.

Not only is Valiant America's newest and lowest-priced V-8[†], but it's also a car powered by a rip-snorting 273-cubic-inch engine.

The new V-8, built especially for compacts, is lightweight, highly efficient, and has just proved its ruggedness in the tough Monte Carlo Rallye.

And you'll be glad to know Valiant's new V-8 is protected by a 5-year/50,000-mile engine and drive train warranty*, too.

The lowest-priced V-8 in the U.S.A. is right around the corner—at your Plymouth Dealer's. Stop in.

HERE'S HOW VALIANT'S STRONG 5/50 WARRANTY PROTECTS YOU: Chrysler Corporation warrants for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, against defects in materials and workmanship and will replace or repair at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business, the engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excluding manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings of its 1964 automobiles, provided the owner has the engine oil changed every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first, the oil filter replaced every second oil change and the carburetor air filter cleaned every 6 months and replaced every 2 years, and every 6 months furnishes such a dealer evidence of performance of the required service, and requests the dealer to certify (1) receipt of such evidence and (2) the car's then current mileage.

[†]Based on Manufacturers' Suggested Retail Prices for sedans, bucket-seat hardtops, convertibles and station wagons, exclusive of destination charges, state and local taxes, if any, whitewall tires, bumper guards and other optional equipment.

Protestant Parley Plans To Aid Policy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some 450 delegates from 24 Protestant and Orthodox churches in the United States were scheduled to set down policies today which they think should guide future church-state relationships.

Following a day of debate, the National Council of Churches' Study Conference on Church and State was to vote on general findings of the conference. In a similar session this morning, 12 specific recommendations were adopted.

The findings do not constitute official positions of the national council but merely are advisory in nature.

Among other things, the general recommendations, subject to revision before final adoption is made, call for an end to governmental discrimination on religious grounds in the dispensation of funds or services intended to serve public interests.

The findings assert that government may legitimately support specific programs of church affiliated health and welfare agencies under certain circumstances.

Such church-state ties are permissible, the conference said in the tentative findings, if the governmental program is not aimed primarily at the support of religious institutions or objectives, and the support of church-affiliated agencies is an incidental part of a large program to appropriate public interests.

The findings also state that church-state ties are permissible, the conference said in the tentative findings, if the governmental program is not aimed primarily at the support of religious institutions or objectives, and the support of church-affiliated agencies is an incidental part of a large program to appropriate public interests.

The court's backlog listed the "books closed" on 27 divorce cases, 16 other civil suits and 21 criminal matters. Twenty-eight of the cases were tried to court; none was tried before a jury; five were cognovit and default judgments; and 31 of the total were settled or dismissed.

As the new year opened the court faced 196 cases. However, 15 new divorce cases were filed, 10 new civil suits and 15 new criminal matters were added to the backlog.

With the disposition of 64 cases, the following totals remained on the pending list as the month ended: 65 divorces, 82 civil suits, and 25 criminal cases.

One case was pending action by the Fourth District Court of Appeals at the beginning of the month and one new case was filed leaving two cases on the docket Feb. 1.

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

JOB: Unemployment climbed to 4.6 million in January, an increase of 700,000.

"The usual sharp seasonal changes" account for the increase, the Labor Department said Thursday. It noted declines in retail trade and Christmas postal employment, plus further winter declines in construction and other outdoor work.

Civilian employment dropped to 67.2 million. Despite the drop, the number of Americans with jobs was the highest for any January on record.

CONGRESS: If outmoded procedures in Congress aren't changed they will "jeopardize the value of representative government," says Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn.

He got agreement on the need for reform from Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y. Javits said the major stumbling blocks are the House Rules Committee and the Senate filibuster. And he criticized the system of giving committee chairmanships on the basis of seniority.

Humphrey said "the legislative branch has starved itself intellectually" and should get advice on a continuing basis from a "congressional institute" made up of advisers from academic, professional and private life.

The two gave their views Thursday on Washington Reports to The People, a non-network program sponsored by the AFL-CIO on several hundred radio stations.

PEACE CORPS: A bill authorizing $115 million for the Peace Corps in the fiscal year starting July 1 has won 21-3 approval from the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The total is $13 million more than the budget for the current fiscal year.

Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver says the increase is needed to boost the number of volunteers to 14,000 by August 1965. The corps now has 10,500 volunteers.

She told of seeing her comrade, Irene Ferrel of Jerome, Idaho, die from a poisoned arrow in an attack on their mission station in Mangungu, Kwilu Province, on Jan. 24. Miss Hege was evacuated by a United Nations plane three days later.

Miss Hege and Miss Ferrel were awaiting evacuation when the guerrillas attacked. The women were dragged from the house and their clothes torn off. Miss Ferrel was struck in the throat by an arrow and she died after pulling it out, Miss Hege said.

"I lay there next to her and heard their frenzied cries as they hacked and looted," she said. "Four times they came up to me to see if I was dead. I was trembling from the dew but each time I was still."

"There was a blaze all over the mission as they set fire to the school house. I knew I was lying in a pool of blood and I thought it was Irene's, but when I crawled over to the garage I found that I had been hit in the arm with an arrow."

Miss Hege said she was found the next morning by villagers, who locked her in the dispensary because they were afraid. She said she later was taken to the guerrilla camp but then was returned to the village, where she again was confined.

The United Nations plane landed while the village was deserted, Miss Hege said.

Views on Television—Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — "The Beverly Hillbillies," in its second season as the most popular television program on the networks, is "pure escape, just for laughs," in the words of Paul Henning who dreamed up the whole show.

"I'd finished up five years of writing 'The Bob Cummings Show,'" Henning recalled, "and spent the next two months driving 14,000 miles around the country. That was in 1959, and I was finding television drama depressing—everything seemed to start with mayhem and then get worse."

"I decided that if I ever did another TV show, it would be for the people who live in Kentucky, Iowa, Illinois, Virginia—all those places between the two coasts where people don't think they are sophisticated."

The result has been a phenomenal success. "It is just for amusement," he reiterated, "no messages, no rebellious kids—just simple good humor. And we've had literally thousands of letters that say in effect, 'Thank you for a half hour in which I could forget my troubles.'"

The success of the series made Hennings TV's man of the hour, and this season he launched another series, "Petticoat Junction," also on CBS. And that comedy, less broad but still country-style, immediately became a hit.

Burr Tillstrom will be back on tonight's "That Was The Week That Was" on NBC. The puppeteer, not a regular member of the revue cast, has done its two most brilliant commentaries to date: a pantomime, showing only his hands and wrists, that demonstrated the tragedy of the Berlin wall in the premiere show, and a dialogue between a puppet Castro and Khrushchev in last week's program.

Recommended Sunday viewing: "Return to Oz," NBC, 5-6 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time)—cartoon musical based on the famous children's books; "20th Century," CBS, 6-7—tribute to song writer Harold Arlen; Ed Sullivan Show, CBS, 8-9—starring "The Beatles," English rock 'n' roll quartet; "White Paper," NBC, 10-11—documentary on the Cuban missile crisis.

Persons affected by the closing of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation office at Memorial Hall have been instructed to file claims for unemployment compensation at the nearest area office.

Charles Bunstone, manager to the Chillicothe office of the Ohio State Employment Service, has announced that claimants who have requested transfer of claims to Chillicothe should report there on a definite schedule.

Bunstone has set up a schedule based on the last two numbers of the claimant's social security number. Those ending 0 and 1 should report on Monday; 2 and 3 Tuesday; 4 and 5 Wednesday; 6 and 7 Thursday; 8 and 9 Friday.

Protestant Parley Plans To Aid Policy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some 450 delegates from 24 Protestant and Orthodox churches in the United States were scheduled to set down policies today which they think should guide future church-state relationships.

Following a day of debate, the National Council of Churches' Study Conference on Church and State was to vote on general findings of the conference. In a similar session this morning, 12 specific recommendations were adopted.

The findings do not constitute official positions of the national council but merely are advisory in nature.

Among other things, the general recommendations, subject to revision before final adoption is made, call for an end to governmental discrimination on religious grounds in the dispensation of funds or services intended to serve public interests.

The findings assert that government may legitimately support specific programs of church affiliated health and welfare agencies under certain circumstances.

Such church-state ties are permissible, the conference said in the tentative findings, if the governmental program is not aimed primarily at the support of religious institutions or objectives, and the support of church-affiliated agencies is an incidental part of a large program to appropriate public interests.

Court Lists Disposition On 64 Cases

Sixty-four cases were disposed of by Pickaway County Common Pleas Court during January.

The court's backlog listed the "books closed" on 27 divorce cases, 16 other civil suits and 21 criminal matters. Twenty-eight of the cases were tried to court; none was tried before a jury; five were cognovit and default judgments; and 31 of the total were settled or dismissed.

As the new year opened the court faced 196 cases. However, 15 new divorce cases were filed, 10 new civil suits and 15 new criminal matters were added to the backlog.

With the disposition of 64 cases, the following totals remained on the pending list as the month ended: 65 divorces, 82 civil suits, and 25 criminal cases.

One case was pending action by the Fourth District Court of Appeals at the beginning of the month and one new case was filed leaving two cases on the docket Feb. 1.

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

JOBS: Unemployment climbed to 4.6 million in January, an increase of 700,000.

"The usual sharp seasonal changes" account for the increase, the Labor Department said Thursday. It noted declines in retail trade and Christmas postal employment, plus further winter declines in construction and other outdoor work.

Civilian employment dropped to 67.2 million. Despite the drop, the number of Americans with jobs was the highest for any January on record.

CONGRESS: If outmoded procedures in Congress aren't changed they will "jeopardize the value of representative government," says Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn.

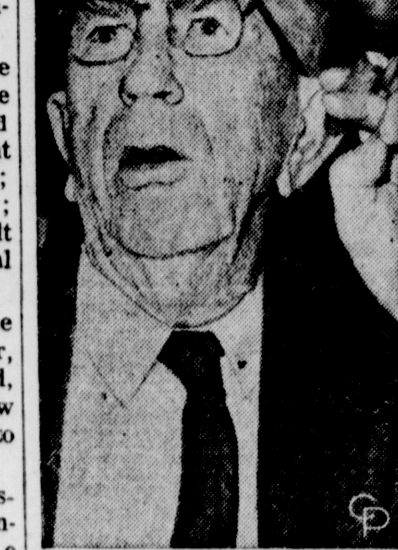

He got agreement on the need for reform from Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y. Javits said the major stumbling blocks are the House Rules Committee and the Senate filibuster. And he criticized the system of giving committee chairmanships on the basis of seniority.

Humphrey said "the legislative branch has starved itself intellectually" and should get advice on a continuing basis from a "congressional institute" made up of advisers from academic, professional and private life.

The two gave their views Thursday on Washington Reports to The People, a non-network program sponsored by the AFL-CIO on several hundred radio stations.

PEACE CORPS: A bill authorizing $115 million for the Peace Corps in the fiscal year starting July 1 has won 21-3 approval from the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The total is $13 million more than the budget for the current fiscal year.

Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver says the increase is needed to boost the number of volunteers to 14,000 by August 1965. The corps now has 10,500 volunteers.

Views on Television-Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "The Beverly Hillbillies," in its second season as the most popular television program on the network, is "pure escape, just for laughs," in the words of Paul Henning who dreamed up the whole show.

"I'd finished up five years of writing 'The Bob Cummings Show,'" Henning recalled, "and spent the next two months driving 14,000 miles around the country. That was in 1959, and I was finding television drama depressing—everything seemed to start with mayhem and then get worse."

"I decided that if I ever did another TV show, it would be for the people who live in Kentucky, Iowa, Illinois, Virginia—all those places between the two coasts where people don't think they are sophisticated."

The result has been a phenomenal success. "It is just for amusement," he reiterated, "no messages, no illnesses, no violence, no rebellious kids—just simple good humor. And we've had literally thousands of letters that say in effect, 'Thank you for a half hour in which I could forget my troubles...'"

The success of the series made Hennings TV's man of the hour, and this season he launched another series, "Petticoat Junction," also on CBS. And that comedy, less broad but still country-style, immediately became a hit.

Burr Tillstrom will be back on tonight's "That Was The Week That Was" on NBC. The puppeteer, not a regular member of the revue cast, has done its two most brilliant commentaries to date: a pantomime, showing only his hands and wrists, that demonstrated the tragedy of the Berlin wall in the premiere show, and a dialogue between a puppet Castro and Khrushchev in last week's program.

Recommended Sunday viewing: "Return to Oz," NBC, 5-6 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time)—cartoon musical based on the famous children's books; "20th Century," CBS, 6-7—tribute to song writer Harold Arlen; Ed Sullivan Show, CBS, 8-9—starring "The Beatles," English rock 'n' roll quartet; "White Paper," NBC, 10-11—documentary on the Cuban missile crisis.

Rendezvous In Space Said in Offing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — American astronauts soon will be guiding their craft to rendezvous with other vehicles in space to train for exploration of the moon, the Manned Spacecraft Center's public affairs officer says.

The spokesman is Paul Haney, 35, a former Akron newspaperman who succeeded Air Force Lt. Col. John A. (Shorty) Powers last September as "voice of the astronauts."

Haney flew in from the center at Houston, Tex., to address Ohio newspaper publishers, editors and executives Thursday night at Lockbourne Air Force Base. The newspapermen are attending the 31st annual convention of the Ohio Newspaper Association.

The United States will send up an unmanned Gemini space vehicle this spring in the first of a series of tests, he said. If all goes well, astronauts will go aloft in the two-man vehicle late this year or early in 1965, and rendezvous will be attempted after some orbital flights.

Manned exploration of the moon by the United States still is possible before 1970, Haney said.

Tonight, Gov. James A. Rhodes is to present the annual Governor's Awards — for enhancing Ohio's prestige — to eight persons.

Recipients are Cincinnati attorney Charles Sawyer, actress Lillian Gish of Massillon, retired Ohio State University swimming coach Mike Peppe, "Little Hoover Commission" Chairman Howard Bishop, Ohio State Vice President Alfred B. Garrett, General Electric Co. President Fred J. Borch, Doren Mitchell of Bell Telephone Laboratories and Republic Steel Corp. President Thomas F. Patton.

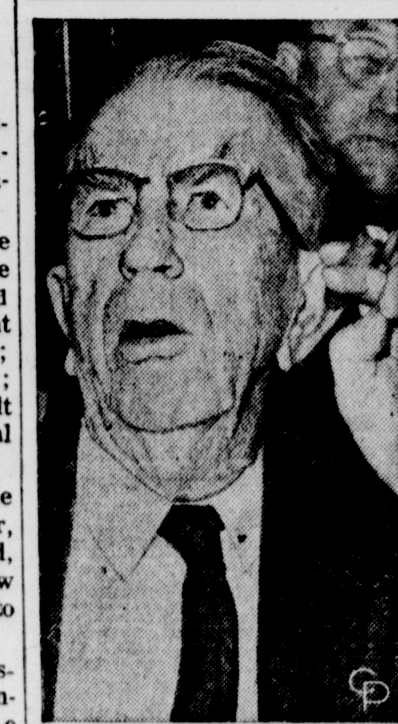

"VERY WELL"—Queen Mother Elizabeth of Britain was reported feeling "very well" following the removal of her appendix at King Edward VII Hospital in London. The operation forced the 63-year-old mother of Queen Elizabeth II to cancel her planned, 30,000-mile, around-the-world trip to visit New Zealand and Australia.

White Missionary Future Is Dim in Uneasy Africa

CLEVELAND (AP)—There is little future for white missionaries in Africa, says a Baptist missionary who survived an attack by communist-trained guerrillas in the Congo.

"Unless the native Christians left behind really know Christ, they will turn," Ruth Hege of Wellington, Ohio, said Thursday. "Those who do not turn may pay with their lives."

Miss Hege, a missionary since 1931, was interviewed at the home of her sister, Mrs. G. Edgar Milner, in Lakewood.
